

Abstract

The gene expression control properties of many different pairs of connectrons are described in terms of the similarity or 5 disparity of the connectron sources and the symmetry or asymmetry of the resulting pairs of connectrons.